Developing Impactful Content

PathGuide is a leading provider of warehouse management system (WMS) and shipping solutions for industrial and retail distributors. To help increase brand awareness and lead generation, the company turned to Voxus to extend its reach in the business, vertical industry and the logistics, supply chain and warehousing sectors. Voxus initiated a robust, content-driven PR program to achieve the company's goals, including: customer case studies, contributed articles in key industry verticals and corporate blog posts, supplemented by activities such as an awards program on behalf of the company and its customers, virtual customer round tables, and more.

Delivering on Thought Leadership

To achieve PathGuide's goal of greater visibility, our team created a dynamic ongoing PR program driven by original content. Given the dynamics of the market, Voxus quickly realized that thought leadership content like contributed articles, blog posts, case studies and award submissions would be most advantageous for positioning PathGuide as a top-of-mind leader in the WMS space.

Driving Traction in the Market

To reach that goal, Voxus identified feature topics and storylines, selecting those that could be repurposed into multiple formats to increase visibility for PathGuide. Our objective was to complete at least one case study per quarter, three contributed articles per quarter, and ongoing blog and social media content as well as ad-hoc award submissions.
